

Set Sail

Set Sail started with a classical violinist and a California hippie busking on the street. This unlikely combination of a Matt Costa influenced skater kid with a melodramatic, Arcade Fire-esque violinist created a fresh, organic sound; completed when Josh May's jazz precision and danceable groove was thrown into the mix.

The ever-fickle nature of the street forced them to find what made Sydney want to stop and listen, and by the spring of 2010 their electric live show and irresistible indie-pop hooks were packing out corners around Sydney. Now Set Sail is taking their vibrant sound from the streets into the Australian music scene as they tour the eastern coast in support of their debut EP.
